HAPPY SUMMER!

Summer is upon us and we are in the middle of our busy season here at Dobbes & Wine by Joe!

Our Tasting Room is filled with happy customers from around the world. And, we're traveling to your markets to share our wines at Pinot in the City in Chicago, Aspen Food & Wine Classic, and new distributor markets like NY and NJ. A phenomenal time was had at the 20th Oregon Pinot Camp - just ask our three Silver Bullets who were winned, dined and immersed in all things Oregon. They're now eager to get Wine by Joe and Dobbes wines in their home markets and key accounts.

The 31 vineyards that make up Wine by Joe and Dobbes Family Estate are in full bloom. While the fruit starts to ripen, our production team is getting ready to bottle our much anticipated 2018 reds... All of this in preparation for our favorite time of year, harvest.

Thank you for your hard work supporting our brands out in the market. If you or your customers plan to be in Dundee this summer, be sure to visit us in our tasting room or Hideaway. Check out our website to find out what we have going on. Cheers to you!

FROM OUR DOBBES WINEMAKER

In the Vineyards

Now that pruning and bud break are behind us, we've moved into bloom and the Summer growing season. Most of our vineyards in the Willamette Valley started bloom around June 8th, with warmer sites a couple days ahead and cooler sites up to 5 days later. The season is off to a slower start with a cooler summer thus far. However, we're still on track for a Willamette Valley 2019 harvest season starting in the 2nd half of September and carrying into the 1st two weeks of October. We are in the month of July now and looking forward to what the remainder of the growing season will look like as we approach the paramount weeks before we start bringing fruit in the door.

In The Cellar

The '18 Pinot Noirs are coming together beautifully! Our final blends will be getting bottled right around the corner in August. 2018 in the Willamette Valley provided a warm growing season with a cool and intermittently wet harvest. The bit of rain was not enough to cause concern for mold, instead it helped stagger our harvesting days. Grape tannins are ripe, with more structure than 2017 and slightly higher acid. We can't wait to share them with you!

OREGON AVA EDUCATION

Eola-Amity Hills American Viticulture Area (AVA)

- The AVA's awareness is growing as a key AVA in the Willamette Valley
- The geography is lower in elevation than many surrounding AVAs
- The Van Duzer coastal winds cool afternoon evening temperatures while days stay warm
- The shift in afternoon to evening temperature supports a ripe, dark fruited wine that holds its acid and as a result, freshness as it ages
- The Eola-Amity Hills AVA produces distinctly different Pinot Noir than the rest of the valley with a fuller bodied, brambly, herbaceous non-fruit complexity and mysterious spice

OUR EOLA-AMITY HILLS AVA WINES

EOLA-AMITY CUVÉE PINOT NOIR

As part of the AVA Collection, this Pinot Noir Cuvée is always a perfect snapshot of what the Eola-Amity Hills embodies - full bodied, drying tannins, dark berries, mushroom and spice notes.

SYMONETTE VINEYARD PINOT NOIR

Symonette Vineyard's Jory, Willakenzie, and Nekia soil types produce small grapes with great concentration. Cool ocean breezes help keep acids firm resulting in powerful, earthy, dark fruited wines.

In her free time, Sarah enjoys traveling, spending time with her husband, two daughters and dog, and exploring new restaurants and craft cocktails.

AMELIA DOBBES
Marketing & Sales Coordinator
amelia@dobbesfamilyestate.com

As Joe Dobbes' daughter, Amelia Rose developed a passion for wine before she knew what it was. Growing up running through vineyards, hunting for bungs in the cellar, and sniffing out of her dad's wine glass inevitably lead her to find her own joy in wine. She has been part of the Dobbes team since day one helping with everything from cleaning drains, bottling, crushing grapes during our 2017 harvest and working in the tasting room. Amelia received her bachelor's degree in Marketing and International Business from Oregon State University. Catch her traveling, snowboarding, and spending time outside in the Willamette Valley when she isn't sipping on Pinot Noir.
